Niva Soft Designer Radiator

Description

A new addition to the flat panel radiator market is the Niva Soft. Unlike the old Niva with its angular edges, the Niva Soft has a far softer shape that oozes warmth. The fine textured white finish only adds to its contemporary credentials. However, there are a range of other interesting colours and finishes which help individualise the radiator.

The bracket system is also a cunning design. Whilst many radiators will have the brackets on show when looking at the radiator side-on, the Niva Soft's are cleverly disguised to incorporate them into the radiator design. Please note that with the standard stock white finish, the standard colour for the bracketing is an Anthracite Grey. The brackets are however available in white at an additional cost
